With 37 years of specialized manufacturing experience, Cosmonova stands at the fore front of research-driven skincare, personal care, hair care, and face care formulation. Our expertise lies in developing high-performance products ranging from soaps, serums, creams, shampoos, lotions, oils, gels, and facial kits crafted through rigorous scientific processes and advanced cosmetic technology. At Cosmonova, Research & Development is the core of our innovation philosophy. Our in-house R&D team, equipped with modern analytical tools and formulation labs, works continuously to create stable, effective, and user friendly products. Every formulation undergoes systematic evaluation including: Stability studies (real-time & accelerated) pH profiling viscosity analysis, Microbiological testing & preservative Dermatological safety assessments Compatibility studies for actives, fragrances, and packaging compatibility studies are conducted during product development. This scientific rigor ensures that each product meets stringent quality, safety, and performance benchmarks before entering commercial production.

Our manufacturing facility operates under GMP-guided processes, with fully controlled environments for batch processing, filling and packaging operations. We follow SOP-driven work flows, precision-based equipment calibration, and thorough quality checks at every stage from raw materials to finished goods. Cosmonova's strength lies in transforming concepts into viable formulations while optimizing texture, efficacy, sensory feel, and shelf stability.

We collaborate with brands to develop customized solutions, enhance product claims, and support them with proper documentation, analytical support, and scalability. With decades of technical expertise and a commitment to continuous improvement, Cosmonova remains a dependable partner for companies seeking scientifically crafted, high-performance beauty and personal care products.
